

Expedited (Emergency) Food Support

Note: Food Support is called SNAP (Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program). Originally it was called Food Stamps, many people still call it that.

What is expedited food support?

“Expedited” means fast. If you are eligible, they have to give you the expedited food support within 5 days. In some cases, you can get it within 1 day. You don't need to be out of food. They can't make you go to a food shelf or church first.

Who can get expedited food support?

You can get expedited food support if you don't have money for food because:

- Your rent or house payment, plus your utility bills, are more than your monthly income plus your cash on hand or in the bank; or
- Your gross income is less than $150 per month, and you have less than $100 cash or in the bank. Gross income means your pay before taxes are taken out.

What if I just moved to Minnesota?

For MFIP or GA cash, you have to wait 30 days after moving to Minnesota. This 30-day wait does NOT apply to food support.

- If you got food support this month in the state where you used to live, you have to wait until the beginning of the next month to get food support here.
- If you did not get food support in the other state, you can get expedited food support in Minnesota.
- If you are getting away from family violence, you can get food support more often and the rules above do not apply.

What if I am a migrant or seasonal farm worker?

You can get expedited food support if:

- Any income you got during the month you apply, was paid to you before the date you apply AND
- You won't get paid any more by that employer in the month you apply, AND
- You don't expect to get more than $25 from a new place in the next 10 days.

The food stamp office doesn't count money given to you by an employer to pay you back for travel expenses.

How do I apply for expedited food support?

Go to your food stamp office. In most Minnesota counties this is the Economic Assistance Office (County Social Services).

- Fill out an application. If time is short, it should be enough to fill out your name and address, date it and sign it. Give it to the food support office. You can fill out the rest later.
- Give proof of your identity. This can be a driver's license or state ID card, but it can also be anything else that proves who you are. It could be the phone number of someone who knows you and can say who you are – like a shelter worker or relative. If you have no other proof, your signed sworn statement should be enough.

If you need help right away, you get an interview to see if you are eligible for expedited food support the same day you apply.

How much in food support can I get?

If you apply before the 15th of the month, you can get 1 month's worth of food support. If you apply after the 15th of the month, you can get food support for the days left in that month, plus food support for the month coming up.

There is no yearly or life-time limit to how many times you can get expedited food support as long as you get regular food support in some months in between.

What can I do if they turn me away?

If they don't want to give you expedited food support, you can appeal. Fill out an appeal form at the office or write a note saying you want to appeal right away. Write that you want an "expedited" appeal, so that it happens fast. Keep a copy. Call your legal aid office right away.
