

SSI For Noncitizens

What is Social Security (SSI) and who can get it?

SSI is a federal program that gives monthly benefits to low-income people. To get SSI, you have to be 65 or older or so disabled you can't work. There are more rules and limits if you are a noncitizen. Even if you are in the U.S. permanently and legally and you are at least 65 or disabled, you may not be able to get SSI.

To get SSI as a noncitizen, you have to fit into one of these 3 immigration categories:

1. You are an American Indian born in Canada
2. You get SSI based on an application filed before January 1, 1979

OR

3. You are a “qualified” noncitizen

How do I know if I am a “qualified” noncitizen?

If you:

- have a green card and were lawfully admitted for permanent residence under the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA).
- have been granted asylum.
- have been paroled into the U.S. for at least a year.
- have been granted withholding of deportation or cancellation of removal.
- have been granted a T-visa as a victim of severe trafficking.
- have been given battered immigrant status.
- are a refugee or treated as if you are a refugee. This means you are:
  - An “Amerasian” immigrant whose father was a US citizen in Southeast Asia during the Vietnam War years.
  - A Cuban or Haitian entrant

- An Afghan or Iraqi Special Immigrant
- An evacuee from Afghanistan by the US military between 7/31/21 and 9/30/22 (until your parole ends)
- The immediate relative of an evacuee from Afghanistan described above who was paroled after 9/30/22
- Paroled from Ukraine between 2/24/22 and 9/30/23

Then you are a qualified noncitizen.

More Info

If you don't fit into one of the listed categories, you can't get SSI.

If you do fit onto one of the categories, you still have to meet strict residency requirements. See the attached flowchart to see if you can get SSI.

Okay, I fit into one of the immigration categories listed. Can I get SSI?

Note #1 - Work Time: Time that your spouse spends working counts as your work time. If you immigrated as a child, your parents' work time while you were a minor can be counted. It can be complicated. SSA helps you figure out work time.

You can't count work time for any month after December 31, 1996 if you got public benefits (AFDC, Food Stamps, SNAP, MA or MFIP) that month. Talk to SSA or a lawyer for details.

Note #2 – Hmong soldiers and veterans with sponsors:

Hmong soldiers who fought with the CIA during the Vietnam War are not "US veterans" under US law.

If you are a veteran or active duty member of the armed forces who came to the US through the petition of a relative after December 12, 1997, income and assets of your sponsor and your sponsor's spouse are counted as if they are your own. That could put you over the limit to be able to get SSI. But, if you do not have food and shelter because your sponsor is not supporting you, you may get benefits. You may also be able to get benefits if you have been abused by your spouse or parent, you no longer live with your abuser, and your need for benefits is because of the abuse.
