

Expedited (Emergency) Food Stamps

Note: The Food Stamp program is also called SNAP (Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program) or the Food Support program. We use “Food Stamps” in this fact sheet because it is the name used most by people who use them.

What are expedited food stamps?

“Expedited” means fast. If you are eligible, your county has to give you the expedited food stamps within 7 days. You don't need to be out of food. They can't make you go to a food shelf or church first.

Who can get expedited food stamps?

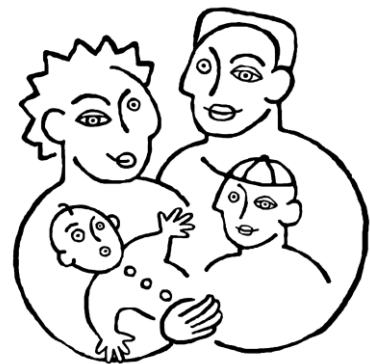

You can get expedited food stamps if you don't have money for food because:

- Your rent or house payment, plus your utility bills, is more than your monthly income plus your cash on hand or in the bank or
- Your gross income is less than $150 per month, and you have less than $100 cash or in the bank. Gross income means your pay before taxes are taken out.

What if I just moved to Minnesota?

For MFIP or GA cash, you have to wait 30 days after moving to Minnesota. This 30-day wait does NOT apply to food stamps.

- If you got food stamps this month in the state where you used to live, you have to wait until the beginning of the next month to get food stamps here.
- If you didn't get food stamps in the other state, you can get expedited food stamps in Minnesota.
- If you are getting away from family violence, you can get food stamps more often and the rules above do not apply.

What if I am a migrant or seasonal farm worker?

You can get expedited food stamps if:

- Any income you got during the month you apply, was paid to you before the date you apply AND
- You won't get paid any more by that employer in the month you apply, AND
- You don't expect to get more than $25 from a new place in the next 10 days, AND
- You have $100 or less in cash on hand or in the bank.

The food stamp office doesn't count money your employer gave you for travel expenses.

How do I apply for expedited food stamps?

Fill out an application online at <https://mnbenefits.mn.gov/>. When you are done, you get a 10-digit confirmation number. Make sure to save that number. Write it down or take a screenshot.

OR

Go to your food stamps office and fill out an application. In most Minnesota counties this is the county welfare office. Sometimes called the Economic Assistance Office, or Financial Assistance Services, or County Social Services. You can find yours online at <https://mn.gov/dhs/> under "About us" then "Contact us" on the top menu.

- If time is short, it should be enough to fill out your name and address, date it, and sign it. Give it to the food stamps office. You can fill out the rest later. Especially in big counties. Doing this might be faster than waiting for the county to process your online application.
- Give proof of your identity. This can be a driver's license or state ID card. It can also be anything else that proves who you are. Like the phone number of someone who knows you and can say who you are. Maybe a shelter worker or relative. If you have no other proof, your signed sworn statement should be enough.

If you need help right away, the county should call you the same day you apply. They do an interview to see if you are eligible for expedited food stamps. If they don't call you, contact Legal Aid. Find your local legal aid office at 1 (877) 696-6529.

You should not need to give the county any more paperwork at that time. But the county gives you a list of things they want. You have to get these things to them within a month or 2 to keep your SNAP from stopping. This includes proof of income and how much you pay for housing and utilities.

How much in food stamps can I get?

The amount is based on your family size, your income, and your housing and utility costs. If you apply before the 15th of the month, you can get 1 month's worth of food stamps. If you apply after the 15th of the month, you can get food stamps for the days left in that month, plus food stamps for the month coming up.

There is no yearly or lifetime limit to how many times you can get expedited food stamps. But if you got expedited food stamps and then lost them because you didn't give the county the things they asked for, you need to provide those things before you can get expedited food stamps again.

What can I do if they turn me away?

If they don't want to give you expedited food stamps, you can appeal. Fill out an appeal form at the office, online, or write a note saying you want to appeal right away. Write that you want an "expedited" appeal, so that it happens fast. Keep a copy. Call your legal aid office right away at 1-(877) 696-6529.
